Summary

This report is intended to serve as a finding aid for congressional documents, executive branch documents and information, news articles, policy analysis, contacts, and training, for use in policy and legislative research. It is not intended to be a definitive list of all resources, but rather a guide to pertinent subscriptions available in the House and Senate in addition to selected resources freely available to the public. This report is intended for use by congressional staff and will be updated as needed.

Introduction

During the legislative process, many documents are prepared by Congress and its committees. Governmental and nongovernmental entities track and record congressional activities, and many more entities chronicle and analyze the development of public policy. The wide availability of such information can be daunting to those involved in policy and legislative research. The purpose of this report is to assist congressional staff in identifying and accessing key resources used during such research.

The resources' titles and access information are presented in eight tables. The tables provide information on how to find congressional documents (Table 1); information on tracking legislative activity (Table 2); executive branch documents and information (Table 3); information about legislative support agencies (Table 4); congressional news sources (Table 5); policy and scholarly research sources (Table 6 and Table 7); and research-related training and services for congressional staff (Table 8).

This report is not a comprehensive catalog of resources for conducting policy and legislative research; instead, it provides a selection of widely used electronic resources. Some of the resources mentioned are available only with a paid subscription, whereas others are free; this availability is noted in the report along with the access points for congressional staff. Print resources for time periods not covered by the resources listed in the tables may be available from the Congressional Research Service (CRS), the Law Library of Congress, or the House and Senate Libraries. The inclusion of resources in this report does not imply endorsement by CRS of the content or the products listed. In addition, CRS does not acquire or manage congressional offices' access to subscription resources.

CRS is available for consultation on policy and legislative research or to perform such research upon request. CRS can also advise congressional staff on the use of the resources listed in this report, including advice on how to select the best resource to use, how to search for information within a resource, or how to develop the most effective research methodology. Additional reports on congressional operations are available in the "Congressional Process, Administration, & Elections" page on CRS.gov, at <http://www.crs.gov/iap/congressional-process-administration-and-elections>.

Congressional Documents

Table 1 serves as a reference guide for locating congressional documents using both freely available and subscription-based resources. The first column of the table lists documents commonly used in policy and legislative research and typical citations for such documents. The second column lists resources where these documents can be accessed. The third column contains explanatory notes.

Table 2 provides information about how to access House and Senate committee schedules, floor schedules, calendars, and floor proceedings, all of which can be helpful in tracking congressional activities.

Access to subscription resources can vary among CRS, Senate, and House offices. See the notes within the tables for more information. CRS subscriptions can be accessed through the CRS La Follette Congressional Reading Room (locations and hours of operation are available in Table 8). Unless otherwise indicated, all other resources are freely available.

Table A-1 provides additional information on the resources in Table 1, Table 2, and Table 3, including more detailed descriptions and URLs linking directly to the resources (when available).

Table I. Congressional Documents

Document (Sample Citations)	Access Points	Notes
Bills and Resolutions (H.R. 123, S. 345, H.Res. 678, S.J.Res. 910)	Congress.gov	Full text available 1989-present. Bill summaries available 1973-present. Bill text may not be available for several days following introduction or subsequent congressional action.
	CQ.com	The CRS subscription to CQ.com includes bill text from 1995 to present. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to CQ may differ.
	ProQuest Congressional	The CRS subscription to ProQuest Congressional includes bill and resolution text for all Congresses. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to ProQuest Congressional may differ.
Draft Legislation and Amended Legislation not yet available in Congress.gov	Member or committee websites	Committees may make draft legislation or scanned markups of legislation available. To locate committee websites, see listed information on the Congress.gov committee pages at https://www.congress.gov/committees . Individual sponsors may also post draft legislation on their Member page.
	docs.house.gov	Committee documents may include draft legislation to be discussed at committee meetings.
	CQ.com	Manager’s amendments and scanned markups of reported bills may be posted on “Bills to be Considered on the House Floor.” Draft legislation circulating among Members and the press prior to formal introduction may be available on the CQ “Hot Docs” page or the “Draft Bill Text” page.
Floor Amendments (S.Amdt. 15, H.Amdt. 75)	Congress.gov	Full text available 1995-present. Amendment status available 1981-present. Amendments can be found under the “Amendments” tab on a bill page, linking to full text in the Congressional Record .
	Senate Amendment Tracking System	Includes only pending amendments; no older data are retained. See http://ats.senate.gov/ .
	CQ.com	The CRS subscription to CQ.com includes the full text of amendments from 2001 to present. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to CQ may differ.
Roll Call Votes (Roll no. 30, Record Vote Number: 11)	Congress.gov	This resource links to House votes (1990-present) and Senate votes (1989-present). In an individual bill overview, see the “Roll Call Votes” section, or navigate to the “Actions” tab within a bill page. For more information, see https://www.congress.gov/resources/display/content/Votes+in+the+House+and+Senate .

Document (Sample Citations)	Access Points	Notes
	House.gov	Available 1990-present. See http://clerk.house.gov/legislative/legvotes.aspx .
	Senate.gov	Available 1989-present. See https://www.senate.gov/legislative/votes.htm .
	CQ.com	The CRS subscription to CQ.com includes access from 1983 to present. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to CQ may differ. All roll call votes are available in the Congressional Record . To find votes on specific issues, over a time period, or other criteria, call CRS at 7-5700.
Public Laws (P.L. 111-148)	Congress.gov	Full text available 1995-present.
	govinfo.gov	Full text available 1995-present.
	ProQuest Congressional	The CRS subscription to ProQuest Congressional includes public law text for all Congresses. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to ProQuest Congressional may differ.
Statutes at Large (124 Stat. 119)	govinfo.gov	Full text available 1951-2012.
	ProQuest Congressional	The CRS subscription to ProQuest Congressional includes Statutes at Large from 1789 to 2012. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to ProQuest Congressional may differ.
	Law Library of Congress	The digitized U.S. Statutes at Large collection includes full text coverage from 1789 to 1950, available at http://www.loc.gov/law/help/statutes-at-large .
U.S. Code (42 USC 543, 35 U.S.C. §123(a))	Office of the Law Revision Counsel	The online U.S. Code is frequently updated, and the currency date is displayed above the text of each section. The main edition of the U.S. Code is published every six years by the Office of the Law Revision Counsel of the House of Representatives, with annual cumulative supplements. See http://uscode.house.gov/ .
Statute Compilations (Higher Education Act, Public Health Service Act)	Office of the Legislative Counsel	The House Office of the Legislative Counsel prepares unofficial compilations of public laws as amended that either do not appear in the U.S. Code or that have been classified to a title of the Code that has not been enacted into positive law. Each compilation indicates the most recently enacted public law that amended the provisions compiled. See https://legcounsel.house.gov/HOLC/Resources/comps_alpha.html .

Document (Sample Citations)	Access Points	Notes
Congressional Record Bound (142 Cong. Rec. 15466)	ProQuest Congressional	The CRS subscription to ProQuest Congressional includes Congressional Record Permanent Edition text going back to 1789 (the Congressional Record was preceded by the Annals of Congress, Register of Debates, and Congressional Globe). Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to ProQuest Congressional may differ. The Congressional Record bound edition is the permanent version. The bound edition is edited, revised, and rearranged, and so does not exactly replicate the daily version. The pagination is continuous for each session, but there is no H, S, or E (for Extensions of Remarks) before each page number. There is a volume number for each session and there are numerous parts to each volume. The final two volumes of the permanent Record of each session are an index containing a history of bills and resolutions and a compilation of Daily Digests for the session.
	govinfo.gov	Full text available back to 1873.
Congressional Record, daily edition (158 Cong. Rec. H5618)	Congress.gov	Full text available 1995-present. See “Congressional Record” link at top of any page.
	CQ.com	The CRS subscription to CQ.com includes full text from 1987 to present. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to CQ may differ.
	ProQuest Congressional	The CRS subscription to ProQuest Congressional includes full text from 1985 to present. The Congressional Record , daily edition, reports each day’s proceedings in Congress and is published on the succeeding day. Pagination is preceded by an H, S, or E, to indicate whether the recorded text took place in the House, the Senate, or was an Extension of Remarks. Periodically, throughout a session, indices to the daily Record are published.
Committee Hearings (H.Hrg. 105-209, S.Hrg. 106-67)	Committee websites	Committee websites may offer transcripts, witness statements, or webcasts. To locate committee websites, see listed information on the Congress.gov committee pages, at https://www.congress.gov/committees .
	govinfo.gov	See official published hearings on the “Browse Congressional Hearings” page at https://www.govinfo.gov/app/collection/chrg (coverage dates vary by committee).
	docs.house.gov	See “Committee Repository” for committee documents, which may include witness bios, statements, and preliminary transcripts.

Document (Sample Citations)	Access Points	Notes
	ProQuest Congressional	The CRS subscription to ProQuest Congressional includes records of hearings from 1824 to present. Full text of the published hearing is available when it is issued by GPO. Unofficial transcripts may be available for unpublished hearings and hearings not yet published by GPO. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to ProQuest Congressional may differ.
	CQ.com	The CRS subscription to CQ.com includes unofficial hearing transcripts for selected hearings from 1995 to present. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to CQ may differ.
	C-SPAN	Offers streaming coverage or recordings of hearings, as well as unofficial captions. The C-SPAN video library contains all C-SPAN programming that has aired since 1987. Some programs aired since 2003 have searchable text transcripts of the program's closed captioning. See https://www.c-span.org/ .
Committee Reports (H.Rept. 112-14, S.Rept. 110-55)	Congress.gov	Full text available 1995-present. On a bill page, select the "Committees" tab. Or click on the Committees links at the top of any page and see the links to House and Senate reports on the right side of the page.
	ProQuest Congressional	The CRS subscription to ProQuest Congressional includes committee report text going back to 1789. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to ProQuest Congressional may differ.
	CQ.com	The CRS subscription to CQ.com includes full text from 1995 to present. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to CQ may differ.
Committee Markups and Committee Amendments	CQ.com	The CRS subscription to CQ.com includes committee markup coverage, including committee votes, from 1995 to present, with committee amendments from 2005 to present. Years of coverage in House and Senate subscriptions to CQ may differ.
	Committee websites	Committees sometimes make markup materials available. To locate committee websites, see listed information on the Congress.gov committee pages at https://www.congress.gov/committees .
	docs.house.gov	Materials in the "Committee Repository" may include staff memos, documents summarizing legislation or amendments, unofficial transcripts, and vote records. Note that committee reports may include information on amendments offered in committee or committee votes.

Legislative Support Agencies

The legislative support agencies are designed to be nonpartisan, objective, and impartial. The agencies each serve the Congress in different ways. Contact information for each agency and a description of each agency and its services is outlined in Table 4, below.

Table 4. Legislative Support Agencies

Agency	Access Point and Contact	Description and Services
Congressional Budget Office (CBO)	https://www.cbo.gov Cost estimates: Budget Analysis Division, (202) 226-2800, costestimates@cbo.gov Other inquiries: Associate Director for Legislative Affairs, (202) 226-2837, congressionalaffairs@cbo.gov	CBO produces independent analyses of budgetary and economic issues to support the congressional budget process, including reports, projections, cost estimates, scorekeeping, sequestration reports, budget options, and others. CBO does not make policy recommendations.
Congressional Research Service (CRS)	http://www.crs.gov^a Place a request: (202) 707-5700, http://www.crs.gov/PlaceARequest	CRS provides comprehensive research and analysis on all legislative and oversight issues of interest to Congress. CRS assists Members and staff with identifying and clarifying policy options; analyzing the implications of proposed policies; and assessing policy, procedural, and oversight options. Acting as a research extension to the staff of each Member and committee, CRS provides consultations, confidential memoranda, reports, briefing documents, videos, advice on process and procedures, expert committee testimony, and seminars.
Government Accountability Office (GAO)	https://www.gao.gov Congressional relations: (202) 512-4400, CongRel@gao.gov Watchdog (http://watchdog.gao.gov) is a website specifically for Members and congressional staff.^b	GAO investigates how the federal government spends taxpayer dollars. GAO's work is done at the request of congressional committees or subcommittees or as directed by public laws or committee reports. GAO's products include reports, testimonies, correspondence, and legal decisions and opinions. GAO also produces special publications to assist Congress and executive branch agencies by recommending corrections to problems in government programs and operations, identifying long-term trends, and examining the nation's fiscal health.

News, Policy, and Scholarly Research Sources

Table 5, Table 6, and Table 7 serve as finding aids for selected resources covering news, scholarly, and policy research that may be related to Congress and the legislative process. Resources in these tables may contain editorial content and analysis. Inclusion of these resources does not imply endorsement of the views held by the publications listed. Please note that these tables are meant to serve as suggested starting points rather than comprehensive lists of news, scholarly, and policy resources. Congressional users may also access databases subscribed to by the Library of Congress such as ProQuest, LexisNexis, Factiva, EBSCOhost, and many others, onsite in the CRS La Follette Congressional Reading Room and the public reading rooms at the Library of Congress. Additionally, requests for literature searches and full text of specific articles can be submitted to CRS. Congressional users also have access to various databases through the House Library and the Senate Library.

Appendix. Alphabetical Listing of Resources with Descriptions

Table A-1 provides an alphabetical listing of, and additional details about, the resources listed in Table 1, Table 2, and Table 3.

Table A-1. Alphabetical List of Resources with Descriptions

Resource	Description
Congress.gov http://www.congress.gov	Congress.gov is the official website for federal legislative information. It also provides access to the Congressional Record daily edition, committee reports, nominations, treaty documents, and executive communications. Congress.gov provides (1) a single search across all available information and years; (2) permanent URLs; (3) faceted search filters; (4) Member profiles; and (5) bill summaries and lists of actions for legislation. The site gives users with legislative branch devices access to CRS reports and products from bill records, the homepage, and help pages. (Congress.gov will eventually replace LIS.gov, though both sites are currently up to date and in use. The LIS retirement date is targeted for Summer 2019.)
CQ (Congressional Quarterly) http://www.cq.com	This subscription database provides bill text, summaries, tracking, and analysis. It also includes (but is not limited to) roll-call votes, legislative histories, floor and committee schedules, detailed committee coverage, and hearing transcripts. Coverage dates vary by information category. A basic CQ.com subscription is available in all House and Senate offices.
C-SPAN http://www.c-span.org	C-SPAN is a private, nonprofit company that provides public access to the political process. It includes a searchable video library of hearings, floor debate, press conferences, speeches, and other types of news programs and events.
U.S. House of Representatives Document Repository https://docs.house.gov/	Docs.house.gov provides access to committee documents and text of legislation being considered in committee and by the House. Documents are made available in accordance with the rules of the House of Representatives and standards adopted by the Committee on House Administration. Committee documents can be browsed by committee name or searched through a basic search interface. Legislation text can be browsed by date; there is no search functionality for legislation. For more information, see https://docs.house.gov/committee/Help.aspx.
eCFR (electronic Code of Federal Regulations) http://www.ecfr.gov	The Electronic Code of Federal Regulations (e-CFR) is a regularly updated, unofficial editorial compilation of CFR material and Federal Register amendments.

Executive Order Disposition Tables, National Archives and Records Administration http://www.archives.gov/federal-register/executive-orders/	The text of executive orders appears in the daily Federal Register as each executive order is signed by the President and received by the Office of the Federal Register. Disposition Tables contain information about executive orders beginning with those signed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and are arranged according to presidential administration and year of signature. The tables are compiled and maintained by the Office of the Federal Register editors at the National Archives and Records Administration.
FederalRegister.gov http://www.federalregister.gov	This site is jointly administered by the National Archives and Records Administration and the U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO) to provide an unofficial, HTML edition of the daily Federal Register to make it easier for citizens and communities to understand the regulatory process and to participate in government decisionmaking.
govinfo.gov http://www.govinfo.gov	Govinfo.gov provides free online access to official publications from all three branches of the federal government. Govinfo.gov is managed by the Government Publishing Office (GPO).
ProQuest Congressional congressional.proquest.com	This subscription database contains detailed abstracts and links to the full text of many congressional and federal documents, such as the Congressional Record , congressional hearing transcripts, committee prints, and legislative histories. Coverage dates vary by information category, although coverage for most categories begins in 1789 or at some point in the 1800s. ProQuest Congressional is available in all House and Senate offices.
regulations.gov http://www.regulations.gov	This site provides a government-wide portal for the public to review and comment on published regulatory actions and to view any supporting materials provided by the agency.
Senate Amendment Tracking System (ATS) ats.senate.gov	ATS is a web application that displays images of submitted and proposed amendments to legislation pending before the U.S. Senate. Amendments are available on ATS approximately 15 minutes after the Bill Clerk receives them.
Statute Compilations (Office of the Legislative Counsel) https://legcounsel.house.gov/HOLC/Resources/comps_alpha.html	The House Office of the Legislative Counsel (OLC) prepares unofficial compilations of public laws as amended that either do not appear in the U.S. Code or that have been classified to a title of the Code that has not been enacted into positive law (e.g., the Social Security Act). The most frequently requested compilations are available on the OLC website and are updated on an ongoing basis. Each compilation indicates the most recently enacted public law that amended the provisions compiled.
U.S. Code (Office of the Law Revision Counsel) uscode.house.gov	The main edition of the U.S. Code is published every six years by the Office of the Law Revision Counsel (OLRC) of the House of Representatives, with annual cumulative supplements. The current edition of the Code was published in 2012. The default version of the Code available for searching and browsing on the website is the most current of the online versions. The OLRC staff updates this version on an ongoing basis.
