

Research in Social Problems and Public Policy
Volume 19: Government Secrecy

Contributors

Susan Maret
Introduction to volume 19

Musings on Secrecy, Privacy, Censorship, and Conspiracy

David N. Gibbs
Sigmund Freud as a theorist of government secrecy

Michael R. Edelstein
Privacy and secrecy: Public reserve as a frame for examining events such as the BP Gulf Oil Disaster

Antoon de Baets
Taxonomy of concepts related to the censorship of history

Thomas C. Ellington
Secrecy and disclosure: Policies and consequences in the American experience

Kathryn S. Olmsted
Government secrecy and conspiracy theories

Government Secrecy and National Security

Hillel Nosssek and Yehiel Limor
The Israeli paradox: Military censorship as guardian of freedom of the press

Nicolas Wilkinson
National security, secrecy and the media – a British view

Peter Philips and Mickey Huff
Project Censored: Colleges and universities validate independent news for media freedom

Susan Maret and Lea Aschenkas
Operation Pedro Pan: The hidden history of 14,000 Cuban children

Government Secrecy: Current Policy

Patrice McDermott
Secrecy reform or secrecy redux? Access to information in the Obama administration

Rick Piltz

Secrecy, complicity, and resistance: Political control of climate science communication under the Bush-Cheney administration

Kenneth Farrall

Suspicious activity reporting: U.S. domestic intelligence in a post-privacy Age?

Jonathan Felbinger and Judith Reppy

Classifying knowledge, creating secrets: Government policy for dual-use technology

Brian Rappert, Richard Moyes, and A. N. Other

Statecrafting ignorance: Strategies for managing burdens, secrecy, and conflict

Jeannine E. Relly

Corruption, secrecy and access-to-information legislation in Africa: A cross-national study of political institutions

Jonathan Fox and Libby Haight

Mexico's transparency reforms: Theory and practice

Government Secrecy: Ethical Tensions

Hamilton Bean

Is open source intelligence an ethical issue?

Guy B. Adams and Danny L. Balfour

"Open' secrets": The masked dynamics of moral inversion and administrative evil

J. William Leonard

The corrupting influence of secrecy on national policy decisions